Keystone College
Recognition of Donors

A Message from Susan S. Belin Chair, Board of Trustees

Dear Friends of Keystone:

In each autumn issue of the Keystonian, we recognize the generosity, vision and commitment of our Keystone College donors. The names that appear in print reflect a tradition of giving dating to the founding of Keystone Academy in 1868. They represent a culture of philanthropy that has been expanding for nearly a century and a half and illustrate the support of our alumni and friends for the college's mission to foster education imbued with integrity, civility and curiosity with an awareness of practical realities.

I am honored and happy to report that this legacy of loyalty and support continued to grow with nearly 2,000 donor gifts during the 2014-2015 academic year. Your gifts are essential to foster the creativity of our professors and staff, and of course to make a challenging and rewarding college education possible for our students.

Alumni giving remains Keystone's primary source of financial support. Some donors designated their philanthropic for the construction of the new state-of-the-art athletic field and track complex. Many others created new scholarships or made additional contributions to their existing scholarships, gave to the library renovations or supported critical academic programs, thus helping our students achieve their goals and realize their dreams.

Keystone's 2013-2017 Strategic Plan set a goal of doubling our modest endowment in ten years. One strategy to achieve this goal is to enlist five to seven new endowed scholarships each year. Endowed scholarships, which are essential to so many of our students, may be created with a gift of $20,000 or more. Payments may be extended over several years and can serve as a lasting tribute in honor or memory of an individual or family. This academic year the Institutional Advancement team surpassed its goal of seven endowed scholarships and is aiming for ten scholarships.

I am proud to be a part of an institution that inspires such generosity. Your support challenges all of us to continue our financial commitment to help ensure that Keystone remains a competitive, affordable and caring college for generations to come. Thank you!

With gratitude,

Susan S. Belin

Keystone alumni couple and scholarship donors, Jack '57 and Sue '58 Peck, graciously made a gift of twenty copies of a book, "The Missing Semester." The Pecks believe that the book will assist college-age students in making wise early financial choices. Students in the College's Honors English classes were the fortunate recipients, and they extend their thanks to Jack and Sue Peck.
